Kentucky Reminiscences

By J. W. Brown

I was born September 22, 1825 in Nicolas county, Kentucky, near the town of Carlisle. At that time this part of Kentucky was a green forest made up mostly of sugar maple, ash, beech, oak with walnut and cherry growing on the bottoms of the streams. Timber from the two last were in great demand for making the household furniture then in use. This section of the State was watered by numerous springs tributary to the Licking River, which empties into the Ohio opposite the City of Cincinnati. One of the most characteristic plants of the forest underground was a variety of cane which lived through the winter and which was the main food of vast herds of buffalo, then inhabiting the country. It grew most rankly about the Blue Lick's section, and there was a trail anywhere from forty to fifty miles in length made by these animals in traveling to and fro from their more western haunts in search of salt licks and this cane food.

At this time men built their houses without nails and also without lumber as we now know it. I fancy it would puzzle some of our modern carpenters to see what substantial coverings could be made with wood only. Floors were laid, walls were built up, roofs were covered, and doors were hung without the sound of steel on steel. These are some of the tools used in making buildings: the fore for splitting blocks; the scoring line, with charcoal instead of chalk for making; the foot-edge, for smoothing down by taking off small chips from the timber; and the broad-axe, which was the main tool for putting the timber in shape, and which required much skill in its use, an expert in this line being always in demand. Houses, out buildings, and barns, were all made of hewn timber. It was surprising, too, how quickly a building could be put up; it not infrequently happening that a newly married couple, in the neighborhood would have a house built for them in a day. At that time the honey moon was mainly spent in the new log cabin, and by the way they were mostly happy ones.

One of the most wholesome customs of that time was the house or barn raising, in which the neighbors for miles around would gather at some particular place, and with working, feasting, story-telling, and a general good time do that in a day, which would have taken weeks to do with meagre help. This custom went on in company with one known as log-rolling which was also a neighborly affair, and consisted of rolling the fallen timber into huge piles for burning, so that soil might be found for garden and field work.

What did men eat in those days? Well, at least, they didn't eat porter house steak for breakfast. They did not get dyspepsia either from eating bolted white flour bread made more white and fluffy with the use of chemicals in the mixed dough. The main bread staff of life was corn meal, in its varying forms of johnny-bread, mush, and puddings. The corn was changed into coarse meal by the use of the gritter, a machine of tin or iron with sharp notched surface on which the corn was rubbed by the hand. Later, when wheat came in both it and the corn were ground by primitive mills, and made into different grades of fineness by a clumsy bolter. For meat supply there was wild game, consisting of partridges, tree squirrels, wild turkeys, deer, and buffalo, to say nothing of plenty of fish. In those days every household had its own butcher shop. Then, too, for sweets there were wild honey and delicious maple sugar and syrup; while the gardens furnished a supply of tooth some vegetables, and the woods abounded in berries. From all of the foregoing, it may be inferred, that in those days neighbors were neighbors. Indeed, sociability was a matter of necessity.

What of schooling in those days? There were no schools in the modern sense. The first schools were held in abandoned log cabins, and there were no primary text books. Often a pupil got his first innings in reading from some history his father may have had before him, and not in frequently the new testament was used. The school sessions were mostly confined to the winter period. Kept up by private subscription and the sessions lasted until the money ran out. For a long time the Chinese method of study prevailed, i. e., every child studying aloud while others were reciting; and it was not without overcoming much hostile argument, that a Yankee school-master prevailed upon our neighborhood to take up the silent system of study, which proved to be so satisfactory that it was ever after maintained. These were truly primitive educational methods, yet that was the State which gave the nation Henry Clay.

From Sickness To "Excellent Health"

So says Mrs. Chas. Lyon, Peoria, Ill.: "I found in your Foley Kidney Pills a prompt and speedy cure for backache and kidney trouble which bothered me for many months. I am now enjoying excellent health which I owe to Foley Kidney Pills." For sale by Mrs. F. W. Brundage.

Local and Personal

Mrs. L. B. Sadler leaves today to spend Sunday at Berkeley.

Eddleman's ice cream is in a class by itself—it excels all others.

Mr. and Mrs. L. T. Cook have returned home after a week at Pacific Grove.

Will Beattie has been spending his vacation at Carmel and Pacific Grove.

Carpenter work by day or hour, odd jobs. Shop at Miracle's lumber yard. A. W. Adams.

Professor Snow returned Monday after three weeks at Berkeley and one week camping on Mount Shasta.

The editor acknowledges a treat of some very fine sugar corn from the gardens of W. W. Stewart. Thanks.

No paid political "write-ups" appear in this paper. We endorse only candidates whom we know or have reason to believe are deserving men.

Mrs. A. L. McGee and daughter Amy, of Los Angeles, are visiting for a few weeks with the former's father, Wm. N. Caldwell, and family, south of town.

E. E. Sower invites the public to call and see his new line of Ladies', Gents' and Children's shoes. All Eastern goods of the latest styles, and prices as low as San Jose.

The Peninsular Railway has increased the Coast Artillery Band, N. G. C., to twenty-five pieces for their concerts at Congress Springs, to be given on Sunday afternoons only.

We very much regret to report that the condition of Malcolm Palmer has become worse and on Thursday the little sufferer was taken to the O'Connor Sanitarium. At this writing, 4 p. m. Friday, conditions seems to be depending on the strength and vitality of the boy to fight down the fever and the poison in his system.

Mrs. L. B. Sadler and Mrs. Nelson conducted a party of friends on a pleasant trolley ride over the Peninsular Ry. Co. lines last Tuesday, visiting Palo Alto and Stanford University and returning home via Saratoga and Los Gatos. Besides the above mentioned there were in the party Mrs. Teare of Chicago and her daughter, Mrs. Plane of Independence, Iowa, and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Sadler of Chicago.

Will Move Tomorrow

Once again the Press will move into larger quarters. Tomorrow we will begin business in the Odd Fellow block, where we will have ample room to accommodate our needs for some years to come. The first shipment of goods arrived today and soon our show cases and windows will display a fine line of stationery, school supplies and art goods. Our purpose is to establish a complete line of stationery and other goods in the paper line—a store and a newspaper that Campbell will not be ashamed of. Every nickel spent at the Press Office will come back to you in the form of a better local paper.

"The Story of the California Legislature of 1909"

By Franklin Hichborn, can be purchased at the Press office. Every voter should read it. Price, popular edition, $1.25; Library edition, $1.50.

The Press Office Serenaded

Just after closing the office and leaving town on the 5:30 car Saturday evening, July 16th, the Coast Artillery Band, N. G. C., after playing during the afternoon at Congress Springs, stopped off at Campbell and marched down to the Press office and played several pieces. We very much regret our absence. Those who heard the music speak highly of it. Manager F. E. Chapin was in the party.

They Have a Definite Purpose

Foley Kidney Pills give quick relief in cases of kidney and bladder ailments. Mrs. Rose Glaser Terre Haute, Ind., tells the result in her case. "After suffering for many years from a serious case of kidney trouble and spending much money for so called cures, I found Foley Kidney Pills the only medicine that gave me a permanent cure. I am again able to be up and attend to my work. I shall never hesitate to recommend them." For sale by Mrs. F. W. Brundage.

Republicans Hold Caucus

Dr. C. N. Cooper and C. B. Miracle Elected Delegates to County Convention—Straw Vote for Governor

The Republicans of Campbell precinct met at the Library last night at 8 o'clock, twenty-one being present. Judge Farley was elected chairman of the meeting and L. C. Dick, secretary.

The purpose of the meeting was to select delegates, two in number, from the Campbell precinct, to be voted for on the primary ballot August 16th. These delegates are to meet in convention August 27th, and with their fellow delegates from all the other precincts of the county choose the delegates for the State Convention, select a County Central Committee to hold office for two years and formulate a platform for the local Republican party if they so desire.

The following nominations were made for delegates: Dr. C. N. Cooper, Parker Keith, C. B. Miracle, C. J. Ringe and F. O. Putnam. Dr. Cooper receiving 15 votes and Mr. Miracle 12, the two gentlemen were declared elected.

Considerable discussion was indulged in regarding the possibilities of the various aspirants for the nomination for Governor, until somebody moved that a straw vote be taken which was done and resulted in Johnson getting 16 votes, Anderson 6, Stanton 3, Curry none and J. Stitt Wilson 1.

An effort was made to turn the meeting into an Improvement Club meeting, as there was such a large number of the representative business men present.

After the business of the evening was out of the way various subjects were discussed, including a local laundry, race-track gambling and the general situation of business in San Francisco.

SUMMARY OF PAST WEEK'S COAST NEWS

Interesting Events Among Our Neighbors in the Far West Reviewed.

What Has Transpired on the Border of the Broad Pacific From Alaska to Mexico.

Merced.—A contract has been awarded for a fine hotel to be erected here at a cost of $80,000.

San Francisco.—The postoffice business rating for the cities of the United States for the month of June places San Francisco seventh.

Oakland.—This city will hold a big celebration on August 22, when permanent passenger service to and from the East will be established by the Western Pacific Railroad.

Santa Monica.—Skeletons and skulls of centuries ago are being exhumed near the mouths of the Topango and Temescal canyons by geological students from Stanford University.

Modesto. — The fifth big fire here within a week destroyed $30,000 worth of lumber in the yards of the Modesto Lumber Company. The firc is believed to have been of incendiary origin.

Sacramento.—At present, $5,631,200 of State money in cash is loaned out at interest, paying at the rate of 2 to 2½ per cent. Since the law was passed three years ago the State has been paid $250,857.15 in interest.

Carson, Nev.—John Lee, a prosperous farmer of Carson valley and the father of ten children, was found guilty of an attempt to maltreat his 14-year-old daughter. His punishment was fixed at 14 years in the penitentiary.

Newman.—For the first time in the history of the famous West Side dairy belt, the resources of this region are to be exhibited and a complete showing of its products made at a fair to be held the second week in September in this city.

San Rafael.—The most important work for the advancement and general benefit of Marin county in many years is that which has been accomplished by the Marin County Good Roads Association. The Association has already collected by subscription over $7500 for road work.

Eureka.—One of the largest Government contracts for dairy products ever placed in this county has been awarded to a concern near here for condensed milk to be supplied the United States Navy. The contract calls for 5000 cases of condensed milk valued approximately at $30,000.

Los Angeles.—At the last word of her supplication, "O, Lord, receive us unto thyself, for Christ's sake, amen," Mrs. Amelia Davis dropped dead in the First Methodist church. Mrs. Davis, who was 82 years of age, was leading the prayer meeting, and death came to her at the moment of its close.

San Francisco.—The war being waged by the State Board of Dental Examiners against dentists practicing in San Francisco without a license was given further support when the Appellate Court sustained the sentence of Judge Lawlor imposing a fine of $500 upon O. J. Fortch, who practiced dentistry without a license.

Washington.—Sixteen Hindus, who applied for admission to this country at Seattle, Wash., were ordered deported. The steamship which brought them will be compelled to bear the expense of their return. Investigation showed that the Hindus were illiterate, could not speak the English language, had little money and were of poor physique.

Woodland.—Wilbur Benjamin, a half-breed, who assaulted and murdered 14-year-old Violette Gilmer near Rumsey, Yolo county, as she was on her way home from school last October, must die on the gallows. The Supreme Court affirmed the death sentence and characterized the crime as one so brutal and atrocious that there could be no hope of leniency.

Sacramento.—After removing a valuable necklace from Mrs. A. E. Ross while she lay asleep, a burglar who had all the characteristics of a modern Raffles awoke his victim to inquire if there was anything else in the house worth taking. Assured that there was no money and no more jewelry, the burglar proceeded to lecture Mrs. Ross about the folly of leaving the windows and doors of her house open, after which he made his exit.

AGRICULTURAL GLEANINGS.

San Francisco.—Conditions and prospects in many parts of the Pacific Coast are shown in the following reports compiled by "Town and Country Journal" of this city:

Walnuts in southern California are in good shape and the prospects are very favorable for a large crop.

Grasshoppers, which have appeared in enormous numbers in Butte county, have done much damage to alfalfa in many sections.

Placer county is becoming a great olive section. There are now 34,308 olive trees in orchard there of which nearly all are bearing.

The high prices paid for broom corn last season has given an impetus to the growth of that grass and a larger acreage has been planted to it than ever before.

Apricot drying is now under full headway and the pack for the season will be a very heavy one, as there is a good crop and a small hold-over stock on hand.

Fruit canneries all over the State have been put in shape for handling the heaviest pack ever put up here. In most counties buildings have been enlarged and new machinery added.

The wheat crop in Washington suffered from a long drought and heavy losses were feared. The drought has at last been broken by heavy rains and crop conditions are favorable again.

Professor Woodworth, with two assistants, are now working on the Argentine ant problem in Santa Clara county, and hope to find some means of checking, if not of exterminating, the pest.

Apple growers of Sonoma county are arranging to send a whole trainload of apples to New York this fall. On each car in the train will be a banner with the inscription "Gravensteins from Sonoma county, California."

M. D. Brakney of Santa Clara county states that he has a seven-acre prune orchard which will yield him 70 tons of fruit this season. This is an exceptionally large yield, especially for Santa Clara county, this year.

The melon crop of Fresno and Tulare counties will run short this season. There was a lessened acreage planted and the yield is light in addition, so that it is estimated that the crop will not be over half what it was last year.

It is reported that sheep are dying by hundreds in Sierra valley, a short distance north of Reno, and that the owners so far have been unable to discover the cause of their death. It is believed, though, that the sheep are killed by eating the bloom of a certain weed.

Pears, grapes, pumpkins and onions will be strictly tabooed at Sebastopol on August 10-13 next, when the apple growers have their exhibition there. The show is planned to give a complete representation of the enormous industry of the country near Sebastopol, the home of the Gravenstein apple.

California's soil production for the year 1909 amounted in value to the enormous sum of $455,368,837, an increase of 12.4 per cent over the value of the producton for 1908. Estimating the output of the manufacturing establishments of the State, from careful computations, at a total of $550,000,000 it gives a total industrial output of $1,005,368,837.

Nevada boasts a large crop of lambs this year—the four-legged variety—and a prominent sheepman of the State estimates that more than 500,000 lambs were born in Nevada this year, and that this increase is valued at $1,750,000. At the present time many big shipments are being made from Reno, and Elko and other points in Nevada to California and Eastern markets.

Germans May Help Free Ireland.

Portland, Or.—The convention of the Ancient Order of Hibernians adjourned after adopting a resolution calling upon the two branches of the Hibernian Society in Ireland to act in harmony. In addition to amalgamation of all Irish organizations an effort will be made looking to a coalition with the various German societies, with whom an understanding has already been reached, that the Irish and Germans will stand shoulder to shoulder against English rule in Ireland.

Wild West Holdup in East.

New York.—Within sight of the lights of Manhattan, four men held up a carloads of immigrants and robbed them of about $500 in cash, while their train was standing on the West Shore terminal at Weehawken, N. J. A cry of "police!" from the lookout gave warning, and the robbers escaped. The lookout was felled by the night stick of a patrolman and locked up.

Patten Quits Speculating.

New York.—Reiterating his declaration that he would never again re-enter the speculative arena and declaring that in his opinion the crux of the financial situation lay with the grain crops, particularly corn, James A. Patten, the erstwhile "cotton king," sailed Tuesday for Europe.

Thermometer Soars and People Drop in Eastern Cities

Chicago.—All heat records for the present hot summer and heat records for nine years past were broken in Chicago Sunday. At 3 o'clock and at 4 o'clock in the afternoon the official thermometers on the top of the Federal building registered 97 degrees. On the streets temperatures of 102 and 103 degrees were read in many thermometers. Scores were prostrated. One woman, overcome by the heat, rushed to the lake shore and attempted to drown herself.

New York.—Heat that reduced wearing apparel to pulp made the city suffer Sunday. One death and 40 prostrations were officially reported, but many persons were overcome and removed to their homes without the police knowing of it. In Jersey City two men dropped dead from the effects of the sun's rays. The thermometer reached its highest point at 4 p. m., when it showed 93 degrees in the shade, the hottest of the year. There was little comfort even in the many-windowed flats, and life in the tenements was almost unendurable. Everybody who could get out of doors did so. Those who could afford it went to places where the breezes might be felt. Thousands lay on the grass in the parks of the city, and thousands more found some solace in trips on the ferryboats, especially the long-distanced ones to Staten Island and South Brooklyn. The excursion steamers were crowded.

Philadelphia. — Sunday five deaths were reported as being due to the heat here. The maximum temperature for the day was 92 degrees at 4 o'clock.

Pittsburg.—Seven people met death by drowning in different parts of western Pennsylvania Sunday. Two deaths were charged also to be due to the heat and one to suicide.

All Apple-Growers Invited to Exhibit at Watsonville

Watsonville.—Pajaro valley, the home of the bellflower and the Newtown pippin, is going to hold the largest apple show ever held in the history of this or any other State, commencing October 10 and running to October 15. It is planned to place on exhibition 50 carloads of apples, or 32,000 boxes.

To accommodate the exposition the city of Watsonville issued bonds for the construction of a monster pavilion, which has more floor capacity than Dreamland pavilion in San Francisco, while the growers of the valley financed the first year's exhibit with a fund amounting to nearly $10,000. Work on the pavilion is now going on, and it will be completed and ready for occupancy by August 15.

It was at first intended to make this a purely local affair, but later this decision was reconsidered and a conclusion arrived at which will result in a State show, no section of California being barred. Exhibits will be solicited from every apple growing section of the State. Next year it is proposed to make it a national affair in its scope and invite all apple growing States in the Union to enter. The Apple Annual Corporation has been incorporated for 50 years, with a capital stock of $25,000, for the purpose of holding a yearly display during its life. Watsonville, the metropolis of the Pajaro valley, ships 4500 cars of apples annually, 650 boxes to the car. There are 1,000,000 trees bearing and 500,000 more coming into bearing next year.

Plans Big Toad Farm to Exterminate Insect Pests

Greeley, Colo.—Donald McClanahan of Edinburgh, Scotland, inspired by the grasshopper plague that at present threatens crops in this section, proposes to establish a toad farm as a move toward exterminating insect pests. Mr. McClanahan believes he can realize handsome profits from the venture.

"I came here because I thought it would be a good place to begin operations," he said. "The farmers will bless me when they see what the toads can do. Toad farms are not rare across the ocean.

"One full-grown toad will in 30 days devour 700 cut worms, 1000 ants, 150 weevils and 140 ground beetles. They have prodigious appetites and nothing can compare with them as insect exterminators. In England toads bring a shilling apiece and I am confident the farmers in Colorado will be glad to pay 25 cents for them."

Pure Food Inspectors Seizing Ice Cream Cornucopias

Washington. — Prosecutions against manufacturers of ice cream cones containing borax are to be instituted by the Government under the pure food law. Several million cones were seized recently in different parts of the country by inspecters of the Department of Agriculture. Analysis of the cones seized disclosed the presence of borax, a substance which has been held to be deleterious to the human stomach.

The cones, by chemical test, were found to contain also saccharine and benzoate of soda, but it was said at the department that proposed prosecutions would be based solely on the presence of borax.

Inspectors will continue to make seizures where cones are found containing borax. Manufacturers using borax contend this ingredient is necessary to make the cones hold their shape.

American Farmers in Canada Make Ready to Leave

Washington.—A returning tide of Americans and immigrants from Canada and indications of an enormous movement of people from the Northwest, including western Canada, to the southeastern States next fall and winter, are attracting the close attention of immigration and industrial authorities. The Bureau of Immigration officials are awaiting an early report from Commissioner Clark at Montreal before discussing the impending influx. Industrial experts say the movement will begin next October.

Crooked Cashier Sentenced.

Portland, Or.—Jefferson W. Schriber, former cashier of the defunct Farmers' and Traders' National Bank of La Grande, Or., was sentenced in the Federal District Court here to serve seven years' imprisonment at the Government penitentiary on McNeill's Island, Washington. Schriber was recently convicted of forgery and misappropriation of the funds of the Farmers' and Traders' National Bank.

Lightning Kills Child.

Boise, Idaho.—A bolt of lightning, carried into the house of Dayton Hedges by a telephone wire, killed Mr. Hedges' two-year-old daughter. The child was playing on a sofa under the wire. A playmate near her was stunned.

To Have Their Own Packing House.

Porterville.—At a meeting of the Plano orange growers it was unanimously decided to erect a packing house. Up to this time the Plano growers have had their fruit packed by the Porterville Citrus Associatoin in Porterville, but this year they hope to have their own packing house. The new house will be under the direct supervision of and will be a branch of the Porterville Association.

Pullman Company Resists Taxation.

Sacramento.—In its report to the Board of Equalization the Pullman Company still denies the jurisdiction of the State Board of Equalization, and the dispute of this year and those up to 1907, will have to go into the courts.

GREAT NAVIES ARE AT THE MERCY OF AERIAL TORPEDOES

Aeroplane Will Be Adjunct to Military Equipment Within Five Years.

Washington.—The successful results of the experiments conducted by Glenn H. Curtiss, the aviator, less than a month ago in flights over Lake Keuka at Hammondsport, N. Y., he hit a mimic battleship 15 times out of 22 shots, impressed the authorities here very deeply. The outcome was that immediately some secret experiments were made by officials.

These official experments were carried out jointly by officers of the War and Navy Departments. The results have just been communicated to the Departments. They show that there is no firearm in existence which can cope with the aerial torpedo craft and the officers express the opinion that such air craft will become adjuncts to the world's navies within five years.

Results of the official experiments taken in conjunction with the fact that Curtiss, without any practice, and while himself driving his aeroplane, hit with ease a battleship target several times, have convinced the naval and military authorities of this country that the aeroplane and the aerial torpedo constitute a new danger, against which there is no existing protection.

Talk of guns which can be made to shoot five to ten thousand feet straight up overhead is considered flimsy and without foundation in fact.

It has been reported to the War Department that no practical net could be built to withstand the impact of a torpedo or projectile dropped at a height exceeding 500 feet. The momentum caused experimental shells used by the authorities to crash through even a steel wire so closely woven as to make it equal to a half-inch steel plate.

Modern Hospital for San Joaquin.

Stockton.—The incorporation of the San Joaquin Hospital Association for the purpose of building and equipping a $200,000 institution here will be fully appreciated by the people of the interior and mountain counties. While there are several hospitals in this district, their capacity is limited and outside of one they are not up to the required standard. The new hospital is to be absolutely fireproof and will be furnished with all of the latest appliances, including one of the finest operating rooms in the West.

Orient Buying Coast Flour.

Seattle.—Orders for thousands of barrels of flour are coming into Puget Sound millers from the Orient, marking the revival of a business that has been at a standstill for several years. The orders are keeping the mills constantly busy at a time when they are ordinarily idle, undergoing summer overhauling. Local millers estimate that the July and the August flow of shipments to China will aggregate a quarter of a million barrels.

Quarantine for Mosquito Pest.

Washington.—Mosquitoes are unwelcome on the fruit vessels putting into Port Limon, Costa Rica, and the public health service has required all such craft to be screened and the vessels kept closed as far as possible while in port. Four cases of yellow fever have been reported in Costa Rica, two of them at Port Limon, and all arriving vessels are being fumigated to aovid a spread of the fever there.

Railroad Prevents Strike.

Montreal, Quebec.— All possibility that the conductors and trainmen of the Canadian Pacific Railway would strike has been removed. A definite agreement was reached between the company and the men. The gist of it is that the standard rate of pay for the territory east of Chicago is recognized by the company. The men have gained about 90 per cent of their demands.

Holy Roller Declared Insane.

Fresno.—George Stephens, a young man who resides with his folks in this city, has been committed to the Stockton Asylum for the Insane. The relatives of Stephens declare that he was driven insane by a local band of holy rollers who induced him to quit working and join them in constant praying and singing.

Will Bar Improper (?) Moving Pictures.

St. Louis.—A statewide movement to abolish the exhibition of all moving pictures of "improper tone" has been started by the Christian Endeavor Union of Missouri. It is proposed to put a ban on "spooning" scenes and any films that depict kissing on the part of any but relatives.

Opponent of Diaz Released on Bail.

San Luis Potosi, Mexico.—Francisco I. Madero, candidate of the Anti-Re-electionist party for President of Mexico, who was held in prison here on a charge of defaming President Diaz, has been released on a bond of $8000.

WEEK'S DOINGS OF THE WORLD BRIEFLY TOLD

News From All Points of the Compass by Wire and by Wireless.

Important Events From Oyster Bay to Mombasa Presented in Pithy Paragraphs.

Tokio.—The Japanese Government has ordered four military airships in France.

New York.— The Jeffries-Johnson fight pictures were exhibited last week at four theaters in this city and attracted great audiences.

St. Louis.—The long fight between labor unions and the Buck Stove and Range Company has been settled. The company agrees hereafter to employ only union men.

Barcelona.—While he was making a cross-country flight Aviator Ehrmann's aeroplane was struck by lightning and fell blazing to the ground. The aviator escaped uninjured.

Mexico City.—Grand opera under the patronage of the Federal Government and with many artists of international fame in the casts, is to be a feature of Mexico's celebration of the centennial of independence.

New York.—Word has been received here of the sudden death in the South American jungles of Professor P. Holt of Santa Ana, Cal., who left this city last April at the age of 75 to prospect for gold in Columbia.

Cleveland.—East Cleveland appraisers have placed a valuation of $1,060,000 on John D. Rockefeller's Forest Hill estate. This is an increase of 300 per cent over the last appraisal, when the valuation was fixed at $250,220.

Mexico City.—To meet the requirements of the increasing traffic, the National Railways of Mexico have placed an order for new equipment amounting to $4,000,000 gold. This is the largest order of the kind ever sent out of Mexico.

Chicago.—The population of Chicago has passed the two-million mark, according to the 1910 school census. The total minor population of the city is 814,115, an increase of 66,768 over the census of 1908. Based on the minor count, the total population is 2,100,000.

New York.—President Ban Johnson of the American League is being sued for libel by John M. Ward, who was a candidate for the presidency of the National League last winter. Ward seeks damages for certain remarks credited to Johnson. The amount sued for is $30,000.

New York.—Mrs. Hettie Green, said to be the richest woman in America, finds herself, in her 75th year, with so many millions that their care has become a burden to her, so she is to turn the management of them over to her only son, Edward Howlinson Robinson Green of Texas.

Chicago.—Because a "big fireman" chased him away from a fire engine house, Leroy Holsener, 12 years old, admitted he set fire to seven buildings. The fires caused several thousand dollars' damage. The boy said he set fire to the buildings to "get even" with the fireman who chased him.

Pueblo.—The Rev. J. T. Holloway of the Pilgrim Congregational Church here has resorted to want ads in the newspapers to increase the attendance at his church. The following want ad was inserted in one of the local papers: "Lost—Any person who has lost the secret of getting answer to prayer can recover same at the Pilgrim Church."

Washinton.—With the assumption by Major-General Leonard Wood of the duties of Chief of staff, two doctors now occupy the two most responsible positions in the army of the United States. The other doctor who has risen to such powers in the army is Major-General Fred C. Ainsworth, Adjutant-General, who entered the army as assistant surgeon in 1886.

London.—In the House of Commons Winston Spencer Churchill, the Home Secretary, outlined sweeping reforms in the prison system. Briefly, he wishes to afford longer time for the payment of fines and to prevent imprisonment for their non-payment, and to substitute disciplinary or curative methods for imprisonment in the cases of youthful and minor offenders.

Washington.—Is beer a spirituous liquor? Upon the determination of that question will depend whether or not the beverage can be introduced into Moorehead, Minn., which is situated on ceded Indian lands, and is said to be the shipping point of brewers for their trade in North Dakota, a "dry" State. It devolves upon the brewers to convince the Indian Bureau that beer is not a spirituous liquor.

Your Hair Contrary?

Is it inclined to run away? Don't punish it with a cruel brush and comb! Feed it, nourish it, save it with Ayer's Hair Vigor, new improved formula. Then your hair will remain at home, on your head, where it belongs. An elegant dressing. Keeps the scalp healthy.

AUTO GOSSIP

Because of inadequate railroad connections and the impossibility of using horses over many sections of the desert, the automobile is coming into extensive use in Arizona. A year ago there were practically no regular automobile agencies in the whole State. What machines were bought came through Los Angeles or other Southern California distributors. Today, however, virtually every prominent make of automobile is represented in Phoenix. Except for the sand and heat the Arizona deserts offer ideal autoing conditions. For miles there are perfectly level stretches over which regularly made roads are unnecessary. The autoist strikes out across the desert with only a track to follow on a course that runs as straight and as direct as an air line.

In the Long Island Stock Chassis Derby over the Riverhead-Mattituck Course, a 40 h. p. Buick (Cevrolet driving) won class 4 event, open to cars selling from $1,251 to $2,000, covering the 113¾ miles in 97 minutes and 36 seconds, averaging over seventy miles an hour, breaking the American road record for all classes of cars and breaking the world's record for stock cars. The previous record was made by a 120 h. p. Fiat driven by Wagner in the Savannah Grand Prize race, the average being 65 miles an hour.

Champion Jack Johnson, far famed for love of auto driving, is partial to the line of cars sold by the Pioneer Automobile Company. He owns a six-cylinder Thomas "70," a Chalmers "40," and bought a Hudson for his wife.

Manager E. C. Collins of the Carter-car Automobile Company reports the delivery of five-passenger touring cars to W. A. Goetzie of Redding and E. J. Price of Montague and a four-passenger car to W. A. Day of Redding.

The Pioneer Automobile Company has just been advised that Sherwin and Williams of Chicago, the largest paint concern in the world, has taken delivery of a number of Wilcox trucks. The order was placed only after every truck on the market had been tried out.

Mr. Perry Hiatt, of Grafton, Cal., is visiting in this city for several days. Mr. Hiatt is the owner of a Rambler Model 55 seven-passenger car, which he has driven all over the Sacramento Valley, covering some 4,000 miles without a cent of expense either for repairs or tires. The remarkable part of his driving is that his tires have in them the original Kenosha air, as he has had no punctures or any tire trouble of any kind. Mr. Hiatt wears a smile of satisfaction that does not come off. Of course he is a Rambler booster.

Mr. McFarland, manager of the Olsen Automobile Co. of San Francisco, states that this has been one of the most successful years of his experience in the automobile business, but owing to the fact of the output of the manufacturers being inadequate he has been unable to fill all of his contracts. In the near future, however, they will complete arrangements to take care of their great demands. The 1911 model will have a few slight changes, remaining largely as they are at present.

Mr. Brown of the Regal Motor Sales Co. recently arrived from a trip in the northern part of the State, which was very successful from a business point of view. He has sold to Mr. Scott of Santa Rosa one of his Regal thirties, fully equipped.

Mr. J. A. McCandless, one of the most prominent business men in Honolulu, and a whole-wool auto enthusiast, has been spending the past few months in touring the States. The car used is a six-cylinder Lozier, which came with Mr. McCandless from Honolulu. Accompanied by his family, Mr. McCandless recently stopped in San Francisco, and by the aid of their machine the party went sightseeing in this vicinity. All are enthusiastic over the reliability that the car has shown itself to possess, and Mr. McCandless, who is an auto expert of no small ability, declares the Lozier the best car on the market. He declares that it has been a very large factor in putting the dealers of foreign cars to rout in Honolulu, and that it is the foremost of the domestic makes that are coming prominently to the fore. The tourist left Saturday on the steamer Sierra for Honolulu. The big Lozier was aboard, and will be used immediately upon arrival in touring the Islands.

William Bolger, the man who is driving the Chalmers "30," that is now the only car with a perfect score in the Glidden tour, is well-known in Western autoing circles. Because of this, local enthusiasts are noting his success in piloting the car with unusual interest. Confidence in his ability to bring the machine through without a single point being detracted is growing daily, and numerous congratulatory telegrams have already been forwarded to San Francisco.

CAUSE OF NERVE DECAY

Usually to Be Found in a Miserly Indulgence in "Nature's Sweet Restorer."

SLEEP IS A FINE MEDICINE

Exhausting Strain of City Life Can Be Guarded Against by Well Regulated Dozes.

Learned men and the casual observer have waxed eloquent about the awful strain of city life, the wear and tear of its tremendous and incessant activities upon the nerve force of men who have not yet keyed up their resisting power to withstand the demands of the vast commercial and scientific machine they have built up. Fudge! They say that the noise and rush and bustle, the excitement of being in the midst of the seething throng, exhausts one's vitality. More fudge! Man adapts himself to his environment so swiftly, so almost instantaneously, that the denizen of the deepest forest or remotest mountain peak can become thoroughly city broken in a few weeks. Why, then, do we find in the great cities so many cases of nervous breakdown, which it is the polite and merciful fashion to ascribe to irritating environment and overwork? Chiefly because of lack of sleep, says William Hemmingway in Harper's Weekly. If, besides robbing himself of sleep, a man eats too much, drinks too much, and otherwise dissipates his energies, the breakdown will come all the sooner and be all the more severe; but sleep robbery alone is enough to make a weakling of the strongest man. Moreover, even the dissipated person who averages, say, sixty hours of sleep per week, will long outlast the sober one who averages but forty.

Is it possible to obtain eight or nine hours' sleep every night in the great and noisy city? Surely it is. The man or woman who pretends that this is impossible is either a victim of self-deception or a very rare invalid. Let us consider a few cases in New York, the biggest and noisiest city in America. There are living in that city some half-million or more of men who work as day laborers, and who sleep as soundly in tenements in the most congested districts as in the equally noisy outskirts of the city. Any cases of neurasthenia or insomnia among them? Not to any great extent. Of course their hard manual labor gives them a fine appetite, their means are small and their diet therefore plain, and the good, honest fatigue resulting from a day of physical toil sends them swiftly into sleep that restores to them abounding vigor next day.

Probably no historic fiction has ever done more harm than the legend that Napoleon required only four or five hours of sleep in each twenty-four. The truth is that while he was in good health and doing his most wonderful feats he habitually took eight hours' sleep every night. In later life, when his energies had been depleted by luxury and the long, fierce gamble for power, his health gave way and his sleep was brief and fitful. This, however, was a symptom of decay, not an evidence of great strength, and it led most logically to defeat, eclipse, early death.

No man can be great or successful or even tolerably decent unless he sleeps enough and with regularity. During the hours of sleep the heartbeats become about ten to the minute slower as well as less forceful, and that busy organ enjoys at least a partial rest from its incessant labors; that invisible but useful agent in the blood that floats away the broken-down tissue resulting from physical and mental effort is constantly engaged in carrying down all the waste products of the preceding day to the organs of elimination which rid the body of them. In one word, the ashes are disposed of and the engine is cleaned and oiled for its next day's work.

REBECCA HUSSEY'S WILL.

Money for Relief of Distressed Has Accumulated for 200 Years.

The will of Rebecca Hussey, a spinster who died 200 years ago, has been made public through the advertisement in an English newspaper, according to a London correspondent. Her fortune, which at that time was something like $50,000, has now grown to an enormous sum. Of this amount she bequeaths $5,000 to the redemption of slaves and $15,000 to old maids. The balance is divided among other charitable institutions.

Miss Hussey was called Rebekah in her day and was the daughter of Sir Thomas Hussey, a Lincolnshire baronet. She lived a very devout life, working night and day in the interest of the poor.

For 172 years the bequest stood idle. Then, in the year 1865, trustees were appointed under an order of the high court of chanrery. By that time the sum, which had been soundly invested, amounted with compound interest, to nearly $100,000 and every year since grants have been made of $2,500 or $3,000 to missions and homes on the west coast of Africa.

There are no longer any slaves to be redeemed, but the interest of the money is devoted by a necessary addition to the terms of the will, "to the relief and assistance of the liberated African slaves in need of assistance either by way of making contributions to any institutions established or rendering such assistance, or otherwise."

Among the institutiones that are helped are the Onikha Industrial Mission, which instructs the children of field slaves in carpentry, farming and other trades; the anti-slavery committee and the Society of Friends of Pemba; the Abeokuta Industrial Mission and the Lucy Memorial Freed Slaves Home, erected in memory of the wife of Karl Kumm.

In addition to the money for redeeming slaves, Rebecca Hussey's will contained some strange bequests:

"Good books" were to be distributed in lieu of gloves—then the custom of the day—at her funeral.

Five thousand dollars for prisoners in Lincolnshire or adjoining counties "that are confined for small debts for themselves or have unhappily been bound for others."

Three hundred dollars a year for a worthy Church of England clergyman who will preach to the prisoners of Lincoln, "and pray daily with them and endeavor to discourse frequently what will be of use to their eternal happiness."

Ten thousand dollars was also left for a fund for publishing and propagating spiritual and religious books. This sum is now represented by an amount of something like $100,000, the income of which is spent annually in assisting public libraries and other institutions with grants.

POPULAR SCIENCE

Lieutenant General Sir H. L. Smith-Dorrien has issued an order to the effect that no soldier in the Aldershot command is to be permitted to smoke cigarettes while under arms or on fatigue duty. Young soldiers of under a year's service have been smoking as many as six or seven packets of cigarettes every day, and this is said to have told on the standard of the musketry and the marching power of the troops.

Steel has recently entered a new field, appearing as an effective material for power belts in mills, factories and similar places. Its advantages lie in the reduction of width both of belts and of pulleys, the consequent reduction of weight and expense, and a reduction in the distance between axles necessitated heretofore to secure proper tension of leather belts. Size of pulleys can be increased, and therefore a gain in power secured, because of the reduction of weight and width. Extraordinary speeds, impracticable with leather or rope transmission, are readily available with steel belts, and the savings effected in all departments cover an increased initial cost easily in a season. The pulleys are provided with canvas and cork surfaces to give the steel bands the best possible hold upon them.

It really begins to look as if the next war—if war there must be—will mark the introduction of aerial maneuvers on a scale which would hardly have seemed possible a few years ago. At the end of 1909 there were already in existence, either finished or promised to be ready for service very shortly, 32 dirigible balloons and 56 aeroplanes belonging to the various European nations. Of these Germany has 14 dirigibles, of six different models, and five aeroplanes; France, seven dirigibles and 29 aeroplanes; Italy, three dirigibles and seven aeroplanes; Russia, three dirigibles and six aeroplanes; Austria, two dirigibles and four aeroplanes; England, two dirigibles and two aeroplanes; and Spain, one dirigible and three aeroplanes. It is interesting to remark how Germany runs to dirigibles and France to aeroplanes. Yet France was the first officially to experiment with the former type.

In connection with a recent demand of German nurserymen for seeds of the Montana larch, to be planted in Germany, the curious fact is brought out that white-pine seedlings are to be imported from Germany to be planted in the province of Ontario, Canada. Now the white pine is indigenous to America, and was transplanted to Europe many years ago, to re-enforce the forests there. It has flourished so well in the Old World that it now appears that the German nurserymen are able to deliver white-pine seedlings on this side of the ocean more cheaply that American nurserymen will furnish them. The interchange of trees among the various continents is a most interesting development of modern civilization. Besides the white pine, Europe has taken from us the Douglas fir and the black walnut, and we have taken the eucalyptus from Australia and the Norway spruce and Scotch and Austrian pine from Europe.

Unfamiliar Commodities.

"Any book in particular, sir?" asked the young woman in charge of the book counter of a large department store. "This is a great novel—"

"Not for me," said the old gentleman, who had been examining the stock in trade with an air of considerable disapproval. Where do you keep the classics, young woman? Lamb's 'Tales,' for example?"

The young woman looked puzzled. "Bacon?" said the old man. "Crabbe? Fox?"

"I don't know about fox," said the young woman, "but I guess what you must be lookin' for is the provision department."

After a man gets on the shady side of 40 he decides that he'd rather be rich than handsome.

It's difficult for a landlord and tenant to trot in double harness.

What Shall We Do with Our Inebriates and Drug Habitues?

By C. N. COOPER, M. D.

Inebriety is a disease, brought on by the poison of alcohol. Many years ago Dr. Benjamin Rush declared that habitual drunkards were diseased persons. This fact is coming to be more and more recognized. This disease is curable to a large extent, under proper surroundings and treatment. That the commercial so called cures are in the field simply for the purpose of extracting money from these victims of habit, or their friends, is well known to all who have studied their methods and their results. Private institutions of merit are necessarily too expensive for universal use. We have five insane hospitals in California; and fifteen per cent of the inmates are there as the direct result of the use of alcohol in some of its forms. These hospitals are no places for them, neither are our county jails and poor houses. We should have an institution especially conducted for these cases. The plan is not mine, nor is it new. Massachusetts, Connecticut, Pennsylvania, Minnesota and Iowa have inebriate hospitals. New York and New Jersey have bills before their legislatures for the establishment of such hospitals. Switzerland has had one for nineteen years, and with excellent results. During the years 1899 to 1901, inclusive, 45.2 per cent. of these cases were known to have been cured. And 56.4 per cent during the next 3 years. From the second biennial report of the Iowa Hospital at Knoxville we learn that 40.1 per cent of those admitted were restored to their families and to society free from their habit. Dr. Bering of San Francisco read a lengthy paper on this subject at the annual meeting of the State Medical Association last April, and it met with much favor.

In a paper read before the New Hampshire State Medical Society last May, Dr. Mygatt said "There is no greater evil, no more extensive and widely spread disease than that of alcoholism." "Alcoholism should be regarded as a disease producing vice, and a vice producing disease. It is a potent factor in the development of mental and nervous diseases surpassing all other causes." "The one sine qua non of genuine treatment is unconditional abstinence from every thing intoxicating. The present treatment of inebriate offenders against the law is neither curative nor deterrent." He further advocated the enactment of laws providing their commitment to suitable institutions for proper treatment.

The treatment of inebriates and drug habitues as sick people has passed the experimental stage. The ignominy and the heartache caused by the poisoning by whiskey, morphine and cocaine cannot be computed. 85 per cent of the crime and 90 per cent of the pauperism of our land are the result, direct or indirect, of these poisons. The children in drunken homes are oftener the victims of the various neuratic ailments than those in normal homes. They are handicapped in many ways. They do not have a fair chance in the world. The majority of such homes would be better off without the so-called head of the family. In an institution in Europe where there were 2554 children, victims of imbecility, idiocy and epilepsy, 933 had drunken fathers and 80 had drunken mothers. This fact tells its own story. A State hospital where all inebriates and drug habitues must go, just as the insane are now sent to the insane hospitals, would lessen, rather than increase, the burden of taxation. The public expense of crime and pauperism would be enormously reduced. I am not a believer in high license to check the sale of liquor. History has proven conclusively that this is an absolute failure. I am a prohibitionist, dyed in the wool. I would banish every saloon from our fair State, now so cursed by drink; but we are dealing with a condition and not simply a theory. We cannot shut our eyes to the fact that there are many communities where the saloons cannot be wiped out. In such cases I would impose a tax of $1000 per annum, which should all go into a state inebriate and pauper fund. If we must be cursed by saloons then let them pay the expense incurred by their nefarious business. I would not have a dollar of saloon license money go into the general, street or school fund. After the expenses of maintaining an inebriate hospital are met, there would be ample remaining to to support all the poor houses of the State. Above all this, there would be a cutting off of at least one-half of the saloon patronage. 40 per cent of the inebriates of the State, now unproductive and useless, would be restored to their proper places in home and society. The propagation of imbeciles and idiots, and other unfortunate neuratics, would be greatly reduced. A large part of the shame and ignominy of the drunkard's home would be eliminated, and the reduction in crime and pauperism cannot be adequately estimated, and I am thoroughly convinced that such a plan, properly carried out, would prove a large factor in the final wiping out of the accursed saloon traffic.

President Taft on Local Option

In his Yale lectures President Taft says:

"In this class of laws affecting the sale of liquors, Legislators have devised a method of local referendum called local option, which has worked well because it is practical. It may be impossible by general referendum for the people at large understandingly to pass upon the various questions arising in the framing of complicated legislation and to reach a satisfactory result, but upon the simple issue whether saloons shall be prohibited in a particular community it is entirely easy for the local public clearly to consider the issue and decide it. When it has expressed its opinion in the affirmative the question of the practical operation of the law is thereby removed from the discussion. By a popular vote in favor of prohibition it is made certain that the executive officers elected by that local community will zealously carry out the law, and that juries selected from the vicinity will do their duty as required by the statute."

For Judge of the Superior Court

If there is one office in our government which partisan politics should not invade, it is that of the Superior Judgeship. It requires a man of experience, temperament and ability out of the ordinary, and rarely does a man passing through the varied experiences of the average attorney ever become fitted to fill such a high position. When we get a good man in office it is poor policy to make a change. J. R. Welch, who has served this county as Judge of the Superior Court for two terms, has made a good record and should be returned for further service, as no doubt he will be. Judge Welch is a man of exemplary personal life, he is an able attorney and has filled his position in a most honorable manner. The Judge is also a fruit grower of considerable acreage. Let's give him our support at the coming primary election.
